The Stationers' Hall. || MDCCLXXXVI.

CONDITION: 8°, full blue straight-grained morocco, gilt, gilt edges on the rough, by Stikeman.

FIRST EDITION in English of the work afterwards known as "Vathek."

COLLATION: Title as above, [a1] (verso blank), pp. [i]-[ii]; Preface, a2, pp. [iii]-iv; Half-title, a3 (verso blank), pp. [v]-[vi]; Errata, [a4] (verso blank), pp. vii-[viii]; Text, B1-P2 (verso blank), pp. [1]-[212]; Notes, P3-[Y7], in eights, pp. 213-334.

"For correctness of costume, beauty of description, and power of imagination, this most Eastern and sublime tale far surpasses all European imitations; and bears such marks of originality, that those who have visited the East will have some difficulty in believing it to be more than a translation."—Byron.

Beckford wrote this book in French, at one sitting, when only twenty-two years old.

[BROWNING, ELIZABETH BARRETT] BARRETT, ELIZABETH BARRETT (1806-1861).

The || Battle Of Marathon. || A Poem. || — “Behold || What care employs me now, my vows I pay || To the sweet Muses, teachers of my youth!” || Akenside. || “Ancient of days! August Athena! Where, || Where are thy men of might, thy grand in soul? || Gone — glimmering through the dream of things that were. || First in the race that led to glory’s goal, || They won, and passed away.” Byron. || By E. B. Barrett. || London: || Printed For W. Lindsell, 87, Wimpole- || Street, Cavendish-Square. || 1820.

CONDITION: 8°, full brown crushed levant morocco, gilt back, borders on covers and inside margins of gold fillets and leaves, edges gilt, by Rivière. Inserted is a signed autograph letter of the author, of 2 pages, quarto, dated August 10, 1818. Size of leaf, 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ by 5 inches.

FIRST EDITION.

COLLATION: Title as above, one leaf (verso imprint), pp. [i]-[ii]; Dedication, one leaf (verso blank), pp. [iii]-[iv]; “Preface,” 6 leaves (verso last leaf blank), pp. [v]-[xvi]; Text, A1-B1 (verso blank), pp. [1]-[18]; Half-title, “Book II,” [B2] (verso blank), pp. [19]-[20]; Text, B3-C3 (verso blank), pp. [21]-[38]; Half-title, “Book III,” [C4] (verso blank), pp. [39]-[40]; Text, [C5]-[D4], pp. [41]-56; Half-title, “Book IV,” [D5] (verso blank), pp. [57]-[58]; Text, [B6]-[E4], in eights, pp. [59]-72. This is the first book of the author. The interest attached to “The Battle of Marathon” is not so much on account of its literary merit as its exhibition of the remarkable precocity of the author. She was not “eleven or twelve years old,” as she states in her letter to R. H. Horne, but was in her fourteenth year. This first edition is very rare as only seven or eight copies are known to be extant, most of which are bound with trimmed edges as in this copy. It was issued as a "stabbed" pamphlet, without wrappers. Original size of leaf was $8\frac{7}{8}$ by $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches; only 50 copies were printed. The rarity of the book may be emphasized by the fact that up to a short time before the death of Robert Browning he wrote, "I have a doubt whether 'The Battle of Marathon,' of which I have never seen a copy, may not be a fabrication." After being shown by Thomas J. Wise the copy he had acquired, Browning admitted its genuineness. There is no example of this work in the British Museum; there are many errors in the text and it cannot be said to do much credit to the printers, "Gold & Walton, 24, Wardour-Street, Soho."

An || Essay On Mind, || With || Other Poems. || "Brama Assai, Poco Spera, E Nulla Chiede." || Tasso. || London: || James Duncan, Paternoster-Row. || MDCCCXXVI.

CONDITION: 12°, original drab boards, paper label, uncut, protected with blue moire silk covers. Size of leaf, $7\frac{1}{2}$ by $4\frac{3}{8}$ inches.

FIRST EDITION.

COLLATION: Preliminary blank leaf; Title as above, [A1] (verso imprint), pp. [i]-[ii]; "Preface," A2-[A7] (verso blank), pp. [iii]-xiv; Contents, [A8] (verso blank), pp. [xv]-[xvi]; Half-title, Book I, B1 (verso blank), pp. [1]-[2]; "Analysis of the First Book," B2, pp. [3]-4; "Essay On Mind," Book I, [B3]-[C9], pp. [5]-42; Half-title, "Essay On Mind," Book II, [C10] (verso blank), pp. [43]-[44]; "Analysis of the Second Book," [C11], pp. [45]-46; "Essay On Mind," Book II, [C12]-[E8], pp. [47]-88; "Notes To Book I.," [E9]-F1 (recto), pp. [89]-97; "Notes To Book II.," F1 (verso)-[F5], pp. [98]-106; Half-title, "Miscellaneous Poems," [F6] (verso blank), pp. [107]-[108]; Text, [F7]-[H4], ending with imprint, in twelves, pp. [109]-152; Final blank leaf.

The Library of William Andrews Clark, Jr.

ERRORS IN PAGINATION: Sigs. [B5], [C5], [D5], [E5], [F5], and [G5], are marked respectively B3, C3, D3, E3, F3, and G3.

There are head-lines throughout. The book was issued without any half-title; issued mostly in blue-gray paper boards, backed with drab, with white label. Some examples in boards are wholly drab, as for example, this copy.

This work is said to have been written by the author in her seventeenth year. As a matter of fact, she was actually in her twentieth year. Throughout her life she seems to have been under a misapprehension regarding the year of her birth; and it is curious that for a considerable period after her death, not the year only, but also the place of her birth were matters of controversy. Even at the present time the latter is not infrequently referred to as Hope End.

[BROWNING, ELIZABETH BARRETT.]

Sonnets. || By || E. B. B. || Reading: || [Not For Publication.] ||
1847.

CONDITION: Small 8°, full blue crushed levant morocco, Jansen style, gilt inside borders, uncut, by Rivière. The W. K. Bixby copy with bookplate. Size of leaf, 6 $\frac{7}{8}$ by 4 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches.

FIRST EDITION.

COLLATION: Half-title, [A1] (verso blank), pp. [1]-[2]; Title as above, [A2] (verso blank), pp. [3]-[4]; Text, [A3]-[C8] (verso blank), in eights, pp. [5]-[48].

This is the first appearance in print of the "Sonnets from the Portuguese," which were not published until 1850, when they were issued under the title "Sonnets from the Portuguese" as a part of a poem by Elizabeth Barrett Browning. This little volume was published privately at the suggestion of Mary Russell Mitford. Beside being one of the one hundred books famous in English literature, this is considered one of the rarest volumes of any 19th century writer. Writing to Mr. Gosse many years afterward, Mr. Browning said: "I dared not preserve to myself the finest sonnets written in any language since

The Library of William Andrews Clark, Jr.

Shakespeare's." A recent census of copies of this work reveals the fact that only about fifteen copies are known. The series of sonnets as printed in 1847 consisted of forty-three sonnets only. But in 1856, when the fourth edition to the poem appeared, a fresh sonnet was introduced between numbers XLI and XLII of the original series, itself becoming number XLII; thus the total number of sonnets in the finally completed series reached forty-four. The title "Sonnets from the Portuguese" by which this series of poems is now known, was adopted as an afterthought. The title is misleading and many persons regard the sonnets as being actual translations from the Portuguese. One of the pet names bestowed by Browning upon his wife was "The Little Portuguese," hence when the Sonnets were handed by the poetess to her husband the gift may possibly have been offered as "from the Little Portuguese." Up to 1918 there was no copy of this edition in the British Museum.

marks. The title is enclosed within a double ruled frame, and all other pages containing letter press are surrounded by a single ruled frame. The verses were first issued in America in 1848, in a volume entitled "The Liberty Bell, by Friends of Freedom"; it was reprinted in England in 1849 "for the use of a few 'friends of freedom' on this side of the Atlantic." The pamphlet is very rare. There is a copy in the British Museum. The size of the untrimmed leaf is $8\frac{3}{4}$ by $5\frac{5}{8}$ inches.

In fours.

In the Author's Preface he states: "Part of the Tale of this Play I took from Shakespear, and about Fifty of the Lines; Those that are his, I have mark'd with Inverted Comma's, to distinguish 'em from what are mine. I endeavour'd where I had occasion to introduce any of 'em, to make 'em look as little like Strangers as possible, but am afraid (tho' a Military Critick did me the honour to say I had plunder'd all from Shakespear) that they wou'd easily be known without my note of distinction."

FIRST EDITION.

COLLATION: Title as above, enclosed in a type-ornament border, [a1] (verso "Entered in Stationers-Hall"), pp. [i]-[ii]; Preface, [a2]-[a3], pp. [iii]-[vi]; Contents, [a4], pp. [vii]-[viii]; Text, A1-[Z4] and Aa1-Ff2 (recto), pp. [9]-235; Glossary, [Ff2] (verso)-[Ff4], in fours, pp. 236-240.

This edition first appeared in blue paper wrapper, and only 621 copies were printed, 350 of which had been previously subscribed for. So great have been the ravages of time and wear on the works of this favorite author, that copies of this edition are now rarely to be obtained in good condition.

BYRON, GEORGE GORDON NOEL.

Hours Of Idleness. Newark, 1807.

CONDITION: Small 8°, full crimson pebbled levant morocco, gilt back and top, uncut, in red straight-grained morocco solander case, with bookplates of Alexander Young and Thomas G. Arthur. On the half-title in the handwriting of Byron is the inscription, "From the Author," and on the title is the autograph "Henry MacKenzie." This copy is of superlative interest as being the identical volume sent to Henry Mackenzie, the Scotch novelist, and mentioned at pages 138-139 of Vol. I, of Byron's Life, 1833. The savage review of the "Hours of Idleness" inspired Byron to write his famous "English Bards and Scotch Reviewers."

FIRST EDITION.

COLLATION: Identical with preceding description.

SECOND EDITION.

COLLATION: Preliminary blank leaf [A1]; Half-title, [A2] (verso blank), pp. [i]-[ii]; Title as above, [A3] (verso imprint), pp. [iii]-[iv]; Preface, [A4], pp. [v]-vi; Text, B1-[F3], ending with imprint, in sixes, pp. [1]-54. Presumably the second edition, with the misprint "Aulthor," line 4 of the Preface, corrected. The type of the title-page is larger than in the first edition; the ornament above the imprint is two arrow-like figures joined by a slender thread, whereas in the first edition it is two parallel lines, the upper much the heavier of the two. "Printed" here begins with a large "P" and "James Cawthorn" is in larger type. The text is reset throughout. The ornament on B1 recto has here a star-like center; in the first edition it is an elongated diamond. The parallel headlines beginning on page 2 are here heavier. On page 5, line 47, "wizard" is spelled with one "z"; in the first edition with two. "Despatch" in the same line is spelled with an "e," in the present copy as described in the first edition. Other slight variations of punctuations, etc., are observable on nearly every page.

"This masterly satire though excusable enough as a reply to the unfair and violent criticism of 'Hours of Idleness' contained in the Edinburgh Review, was nevertheless itself unfair, in that Lord Byron went out of his way to attack many contemporary poets who had in no way offended him. This he himself subsequently deplored, going so far as to suppress an entire edition (the fifth, of 1812) as a sacrifice to his changed feelings.

"It is said that one copy of this edition escaped destruction, though the probability is that more are extant. I have never seen one.

"The fourth edition, of 1811, is also worthy of special attention, as a few large-paper copies were issued. These are scarce, and sell by auction for some 25 s. or 30 s., or more if in the original binding."—Slater.

Byron did not compete for the prize; but the committee not being satisfied with any of the addresses submitted, brushed the entire lot aside and requested Byron to write the prologue for Mr. Elliston. This action of course, caused a storm of indignation, so, in justification, all the addresses were printed.

The tale which these disjointed fragments present is founded upon circumstances now less common in the East than formerly; either because the ladies are more circumspect than in the "olden time," or because the Christians have better fortune or less enterprise. The story, when entire, contained the adventures of a female slave, who was thrown, in the Musselman manner, into the sea for infidelity, and avenged by a young Venetian, her lover, at the time the Seven Islands were possessed by the Republic of Venice, and soon after the Arnauts were beaten back from the Morea, which they had ravaged for sometime subsequent to the Russian invasion. The rather over-praised description of Greece, as it was at that time, was added in a later edition.

Poem. || By Lord Byron. || London: || John Murray, Albemarle-Street. || 1821.

CONDITION: 8°, original gray boards, uncut, in blue buckram wrapper, enclosed in full dark blue crushed levant morocco solander case.

COLLATION: Preliminary blank leaf, [a1]; Half-title, [a2] (verso imprint), pp. [i]-[ii]; Title as above, [a3] (verso blank), pp. [iii]-[iv]; Contents, [a4] (verso blank), pp. [v]-[vi]; Half-title, "Marino Faliero," b1 (verso blank), pp. [vii]-[viii]; Preface, b2-[b8] (verso blank), pp. [ix]-[xxii]; Second half-title, B1 (verso blank), pp. [1]-[2]; Dramatis Personæ, B2 (verso blank), pp. [3]-[4]; Text, [B3]-[M4] (verso blank), pp. [5]-[168]; Notes, [M5]-[M6], pp. [169]-172; Appendix, [M7] (verso blank), pp. [173]-[174]; Text, [M8]-[O8], pp. [175]-208; Half-title, "Prophecy Of Dante," P1 (verso blank), pp. [209]-[210]; Dedication, P2 (verso blank), pp. [211]-[212]; Preface, [P3]-[P4] (verso blank), pp. [213]-[216]; Text, [P5]-[R8] (verso blank), pp. [217]-[256]; Notes, S1-[S3] (verso imprint), in eights, pp. [257]-[262]; Advertisement, [S4] (verso) (recto blank).

Inserted is an autograph letter from Byron to John Murray containing added passages to be inserted in the proof-sheets of "Marino Faliero." This letter necessarily constitutes a small portion of the original manuscript of the book.

Of the first issue of the first edition there is no copy in the British Museum. It has also escaped the notice of Anderson in his Bibliography of Byron appended to the life of the poet by the Hon. R. Noel, 1890 (Great Writer's Series). The title and number of pages collate with the known second issue of the first edition, from which it differs in page 101 being so printed. On page 151, the doge's speech begins: "What crime," omitting the preceding eight lines of later issue. The British Museum contains the second issue, so called on its title-page.

CONDITION: 8°, original paneled calf, rebacked. With the Winston H. Hagen bookplate.

FIRST EDITION.

COLLATION: Portrait of Congreve by Van der Gucht facing title; Title as above, [A1] (verso blank), pp. [i]-[ii]; Vignette by Van der Gucht after L. Gupee, and dated Bath, July 14, 1729, A2-A4 (verso blank), pp. [iii]-[viii]; Preface, [A5]-[A8], pp. ix-xvi; Text, first part, B1-[H8], in eights, pp. [1]-112; Text, second part, A1-[K6], in eights, pp. 1-156; "A True Copy of the Last Will and Testament of William Congreve, Esq.,," B1-[C4], in fours, pp. 1-16; Account of the death and burial, D1 (verso "Characters of Mr. Congreve," in verse by Dryden), pp. 17-18; "Mr. Addison's Character of The Old Batchelor," D2 (recto), p. 19; "Sir Richard Blackmore's Character of The Mourning Bride," D2 (verso)-[D3], pp. 20-22; "Major Pack's Sentiments in His Essay on Study," [D4], pp. 23-24; "Verses To the Right Honourable the Lord Viscount Cobham," E1-[E3] (recto), pp. 25-29; "The True Copy Of An Affidavit," [E3] (verso)-F1, pp. 30-34; Index, [F2]-[F3], 2 leaves unnumbered; "New Books Printed for E. Curll," [F4]-[F5], pp. 35-38. ERRORS IN PAGINATION: Page xiii is misprinted iix; Part I: p. 43 is 34; pp. 62-63 are numbered on inside margins; p. 110 is 111; p. 111 is 110.

This work contains Congreve's novel "Incognita." It was one of Edmond Curll's publications and is very scurrilous. There was perhaps no such person as Charles Wilson. It is conjectured that John Oldmixon wrote these Memoirs under that name, and had them printed

CONDITION: 8°, full crimson crushed levant morocco, gilt back and sides, gilt inside dentelle borders, edges gilt, by Bedford.

FIRST EDITION, second issue.

COLLATION: Portrait of Robinson Crusoe engraved by Clark and Pine facing title; Title as above, [A1] (verso blank); Preface, [A2];
Text, B1-[Z8] and Aa1-[Aa6], ending with errata, in eights, pp. [1]- 364; Advertisements, [Aa7]-[Aa8], 2 leaves without pagination. Sig.
A is 2 leaves.

The first edition appeared on April 25, 1719. Four editions appeared during the same year, and bibliographers have not yet determined which of these four issues was the first. The following note from Newton's "Amenities of Book Collecting," may be taken as an index of the difficulties of this vexatious question:

"Professor W. P. Trent, of Columbia University, undoubtedly the foremost authority on Defoe, after extended research and the comparison of many copies, states that he is of the opinion that any purchaser entering Taylor's shop at the sign of the Ship, in Pater Noster Row on April 25th, 1719 (usually taken as the date of issue), might have been handed a copy falling under any of the following categories:

"With 'apply' in the preface, and 'Pilot' on page 343, line 2.

"With 'apply' in the preface, and 'Pilate' on page 343.

"With 'apyly' in the preface, and 'Pilate' on page 343.

"With 'apyly' in the preface, and 'Pilot' on page 343.

"It is unquestionably wrong, in his opinion, to call any one of these 'first issue.'"

The claims of a so-called edition "antecedent to the first," described by W. Laidlow Purves, and by Dibdin, followed by Lowndes, that Robinson Crusoe was first published in "The Original London Post, or Heathcote's Intelligencer" are without foundation.

CONDITION: 8°, full crimson crushed levant morocco, gilt, gilt back and inside dentelle borders, edges gilt, by Bedford.

FIRST ISSUE OF THE FIRST EDITION.

COLLATION: The frontispiece is missing; Title as above, [A1] (verso blank); Preface, A2-[A4] (verso advertisement of the Fourth Edition of "Life and strange surprizing Adventures of Robinson Crusoe"; Folding Map of the World; Text, with conventional head-piece, B1-[Z8] and Aa1-[Bb3] (recto), in eights, pp. [1]-373; Publisher's Advertisement, [Bb3] (verso)-[Bb8], 11 unnumbered pages. The type has been set by different printers as is shown by the difference in sizes of the page numbers: Pages 1-64, 129-176, 241-304, and 353-end, were set up by one printer; pp. 65-128, 177-208, and 305-352 by another; pp. 209-240 by still another.

The great popularity of Robinson Crusoe caused Defoe to immediately set to work on a continuation, the present volume, which was published in August of the same year. Lowndes is mistaken in stating that the folding map appears in the second issue.

This poem was issued in 1770 in two sizes, octavo and quarto, but it cannot be absolutely determined which was the first edition. The former is by far the rarer, and as there is an issue of this edition containing the misprint "head," which is not found in the quarto, it is reasonable to suppose that the octavo is the earlier. The misprint "head" in the octavo edition is corrected in the quarto, page 3, line 7, to "hand."

CONDITION: 8°, full green crushed levant morocco, gilt, gilt inside borders, edges gilt, by Leighton.

FIRST EDITION, first issue.

COLLATION: Title as above, [A1] (verso blank); Dedication, [A2] (recto); "Prologue," [A2] (verso)-[A3] (recto); "Epilogue," by Goldsmith, [A3] (recto and verso); "Epilogue," by J. Craddock, [A4] (verso "Dramatis Personæ"); Text, B1-P1, in fours, pp. [1]-114.

ERRORS IN PAGINATION: Sig. L1 is misprinted I1; M1 is K1; Page 65 is misprinted 56; from p. 73 to end the pagination is greatly confused. The catchword on p. 100 is misprinted. First issue of the first edition, with numerous errors in pagination and the absence of Diggory (Mr. Saunders) from the Dramatis Personæ.

CONDITION: 8°, full green crushed levant morocco, gilt back and inside borders, edges gilt, by Rivière.

FIRST EDITION, second issue.

COLLATION: Half-title, [A1] (verso blank); Title as above, [A2] (verso blank); Dedication to Samuel Johnson, L.L.D., [A3] (recto); Prologue, [A3] (verso)-[A4] (recto); Epilogue, [A4] (recto)-[A4] (verso); "Dramatis Personæ," [A4] (verso); Text, B1-P1, in fours, pp. [1]-106; Epilogue, [P2] (verso blank).

This issue corrects the pagination of the first. The title-page and text are the same sheets as in the first issue, but the preliminary matter has been reset, possibly also the Epilogue, and Diggory's name added to the Dramatis Personæ, from which it was omitted by mistake in the first issue.

ERRORS IN PAGINATION: Page 65 is misprinted 56. From pp. 72-97 the pagination is greatly confused, and the errors agree perfectly with the collation as given in Hoe.

of the "Poems and Plays," 1777, the following note appears on the verso of the half-title of this poem: "Doctor Goldsmith and some of his friends occasionally dined at the St. James's Coffee-House,-One day it was proposed to write epitaphs on him. His county, dialect, and person, furnished subjects of witticism. He was called on for Retaliation, and at their next meeting produced the following poem."

An||Elegy||Wrote In A||Country Church Yard.|| [The foregoing between ornamental head- and foot-pieces.]|| London:|| Printed for R. Dodsley in Pall-mall;|| And sold by M. Cooper in Pater-noster-Row. 1751.|| [Price Six-pence.]

CONDITION: 4°, full red straight-grained levant morocco, gilt edges, by Bedford. The leaves are stabbed on the inner margins throughout the book. With the Frederick Locker and the E. D. Church bookplates. Size of leaf, 9¾ by 7⅝ inches.

FIRST EDITION: With the manuscript notes on the history of the poem by Frederick Locker on the blank pages preceding the title, and on blue paper following the pages from the "Grand Magazine of Magazines," inserted after the text.

COLLATION: Title as above, [A1] (verso blank), pp. [1]-[2]; "Advertifement," [A2] (verso blank), pp. [3]-[4]; Text, [A3]-[B2] (verso blank), in fours, pp. [5]-[12].

The F in "Finis" is punched out as is the case in nearly all copies, due to the fact that the type was too heavy for the paper.

"In this, the First edition, line 4, p. 10, reads: 'Some hidden spirit fhall inquire thy Fate'; line 5, p. 7, reads: 'Forgive, ye Proud th' involuntary Fault'; and at the top of p. 11, before the Epitaph, line 1, begins: 'The next with Dirges due in fad array.' The Poem in this edition ends with the line: 'Grav'd on the stone beneath yon aged Thorn.'"

"The Second edition is identical with the first except that on p. 10 the word 'hidden' has been changed to 'kindred.'"

The Library of William Andrews Clark, Jr.

“In the Third edition the most noticeable change was on the title-page; the word ‘wrote’ being made to read ‘written.’”

The Dictionary appeared on April 15, 1755, after eight years of enormous labor. In the same year Johnson had received the degree of A. M. from the Oxford University and it was thought desirable that these letters appear on the title page of the "Dictionary," which at once took its place as a standard authority and went rapidly through several editions; an abridgment by Johnson appeared in 1756. The most obvious defect of the Dictionary is said to be in its derivations, while the illustration of the uses of words is its most valuable feature. Johnson read through the books which he considered authorities, marking the words which he intended to use as illustrations. Although the work increased his reputation, the success of the Dictionary did not relieve Johnson's poverty. He was thrown into the debtors prison, from which he was rescued by his friend Samuel Richardson. It was Robert Dodsley who first suggested to Johnson that a dictionary of the English language would take well with the public. Johnson undertook his great work single-handed, expecting to finish it in three years, but the labor was enormous, and eight years were consumed (the work appeared on February 20, 1755), though not all of his time was spent on the Dictionary, for he was at that time editor of "The Rambler." The A. M. after the author's name was procured for him at Oxford through the good offices of his friend, the Poet Laureate, Thomas Warton. Andrew Millar undertook the responsibility of seeing the book through the press. His patience was at times sorely tried by Johnson's dilatoriness. When the last sheet was brought to him he exclaimed: "Thank God, I have done with him." This was repeated to Johnson, who said, with a smile: "I am glad that he thanks God for anything."

This volume is a reprint of the London edition, without any additions.

Volume II. Elia. || Essays || Which Have Appeared Under That Signature || In The || London Magazine. || Second Series. || Philadelphia: || Carey, And Carey—Chestnut Street. || J. R. A. Skerrett, Printer, || 1828.

COLLATION: Title as above, [*3] (verso blank), pp. [1]-[2]; "Contents," [*4] (verso blank), pp. [3]-[4]; Sonnet by Bernard Barton, sig. 2¹ (recto), p. [5]; Text, sig. 2¹ (verso)-[sig. 20⁵], in sixes, pp. [6]-230; Advertisement, [sig. 20⁶], pp. [231]-[232].

This is an unauthorized collection, the actual "Second Series" not having been published in England until 1833, and then with the title "The Last Essays of Elia." It is made up of a selection of twenty-five articles from the "London Magazine," and other publications, and includes several essays by different writers. Of these, twelve appear in the authorized edition of the Essays, and four were taken from the second volume of the 1818 edition of Lamb's works. The following pieces, some of which were not written by Lamb, are of course not to be found in his "Last Essays of Elia"; "To Elia" (A Sonnet by Bernard Barton); "Reflections in the Pillory"; "Twelfth Night, or What You Will" (said to be by Bryan Waller Proctor ["Barry Cornwall"]); "A Vision of Horns"; "The Nuns and Ale of Caverswell" (said to be by Allan Cunningham); "Valentine's Day" (said to be by Bryan Waller Proctor); "Letter to an Old Gentleman whose Education has been Neglected"; "Guy Faux"; "Confessions of a Drunkard"; "The Old Actors"; and "The Gentle Giantess." The last essay, "A Character of the Late Elia," here occurs as it originally appeared in the "London Magazine." When inserted in the "Last Essays of Elia," it was very much condensed, and the title changed to "Preface. By a Friend of the Late Elia." The four pieces which had previously been printed in the second volume of Lamb's works, 1818, were "On the Danger of Confounding Moral with Personal Deformity"; "On the Melancholy of Tailors"; "On the Inconveniences Resulting from being Hanged"; and "On Burial Societies; and the Character of an Undertaker."

An || Essay || On || Man. || Address'd to a Friend. || Part I. || [Printer's ornament.] || London: || Printed for J. Wilford, at the Three Flower-de-luces, be- || hind the Chapter-house, St. Pauls. || [Price One Shilling.] [1733.]

CONDITION: Folio, full brown crushed levant morocco, gilt back, sides paneled in gold, broad gold inner margins, edges gilt, by The Club Bindery. The Hoe copy, with bookplate.

EDITION: According to the Grolier collation the editions of the present volume are as follows: Part I, first edition, second issue; Epistle II, second edition; Epistle III, first edition.

COLLATION: Title as above, [A1] (verso blank), pp. [1]-[2]; "To The Reader," [A2], pp. [3]-[4]; Text, B1-[E2] (verso blank), pp. [5]-[20]. Epistle II. An || Essay || On || Man. || In Epistles to a Friend. || Epistle II. || [Printer's ornament.] || London: || Printed for J. Wilford, at the Three Flower-de-Luces, || behind the Chapter-House, St. Paul's. || [Price One Shilling.]; Title as above, [A1] (verso blank), pp. [1]-[2]; "To the Reader," [A2] (verso blank), pp. [3]-[4]; Text, B1-E1, pp. [5]-18.

Epistle III. An || Essay || On || Man. || In Epistles to a Friend. || Epistle III. || [Printer's ornament.] || London: || Printed for J. Wilford, at the Three Flower-de-Luces, || behind the Chapter-House, St. Paul's. || [Price One Shilling.]; Half-title, [A1] (verso blank), pp. [1]-[2]; Title as above, [A2] (verso blank), pp. [3]-[4]; Text, B1-[E2], ending with announcement of publication of concluding part, pp. [5]-20. In twos.

It is difficult to determine the priority of the various editions of the four Epistles composing this Essay. Whereas there were once supposed to be only four editions, it is now generally conceded that there are ten or eleven, two of the First Epistle with "Part I." on the title-page, two of the First with "Epistle I," on the title-page, three of the Second, two of the Third, and one of the Fourth.

The Library of William Andrews Clark, Jr.

No recorded investigations are sufficiently advanced to be of service, and in the matter of the numbering of the lines or neglect to number, one theory is as plausible as another. It is granted, however, that the editions of the First Epistle with "Part I." on the title-page were earlier printed than those bearing "Epistle I." The wording of the third title-page is the same as the second, with the substitution of "Epistle III," for "Epistle II," but they are differently set up. In the imprint of Epistle II, "J. Wilford" is in lower case italics, in Epistle III, in small capitals; Chapter-House in Epistle III is in lower case italics, and not in Epistle II.

In the Address to the Reader preceding Epistle II, Pope says: "The Author has been induced to publish these Epistles separately for two Reasons: The one, that he might not impose upon the Publick too much at once of what he thinks incorrect; The other, that by this Method, he might profit of its Judgement on the Parts, in order to make the whole less unworthy of it."

In the present copy the lines are numbered.

Ivanhoe was received with more clamorous delight than any of the Scott novels had been theretofore. As a work of art it perhaps ranks as the first of all Scott's efforts. This novel was the author's first attempt outside of Scottish history. The original manuscript of Ivanhoe, and some fragments of the same romances also in Scott's handwriting, are in the library of J. Pierpont Morgan.

[xii]; Text, [K7]-[M3], in eights, pp. [1]-26; Imprint of Chiswick Press, [M4] (verso printer's device), pp. [27]-[28].

A scarce reprint of early jest books, published under the general title of "Shakespeare's Jest Book," and edited by S. W. Singer. Evidently the tales are "A collection from various foreign books of the same nature, rather than a translation from any particular one." Berthelet's collection, which was long supposed to have been the book alluded to by Shakespeare, is superior to this collection, but much more exceptionable upon the score of decency. A beautiful example of the celebrated Chiswick Press, edited from an imperfect and unique copy lately discovered. Owing to the imperfections of the original copy, parts of many tales are lacking.

St. Irvyne; || Or, || The Rosicrucian: || A Romance. || By || A Gentleman || Of The University of Oxford. || London: || Printed For J. J. Stockdale, || 41, Pall Mall. || 1811.

CONDITION: 12°, full dark green crushed levant morocco, red label and roses inlaid on back, on each side is a conventional gold-tooling of rose leaves with center of red roses and maltese cross inlaid, and gold pointillé work; doublures of cream-colored levant morocco tooled in a diaper pattern with alternate rows of inlaid red roses and maltese crosses symbolizing the Rosicrucian Order; flies of cream-colored moiré silk, gilt top, uncut, by Rivière.

FIRST EDITION.

COLLATION: Half-title missing; Title, one leaf (verso blank); Text, B1-[L10], ending with imprint as follows: "Printed by S. Gosnell, Little Queen Street, London," in twelves, pp. [1]-236.

This copy is the first edition of one of the scarcest Shelley items. The work did not sell at the time of its publication and the majority of sheets were disposed of in bulk. Some of these were eventually published with the title-page dated 1822.

CONDITION: Small 8°, full crimson crushed levant morocco, Jansen style, broad gold inside borders, gilt top, uncut, by Maclehose. With bookplate of Thomas E. Arthur. Size of leaf, 6⁹/₁₆ by 4 inches.

FIRST EDITION.

COLLATION: Title as above, [A1] (verso blank), pp. [i]-[ii]; Preface, [A2]-[A3], pp. [iii]-vi; Half-title, [A4] (verso blank), pp. [vii]-[viii]; Text, B1-[H3] (verso blank), ending with imprint, in eights, pp. [1]-[102].

This book was rare as early as 1824, for Mrs. Shelley in the Preface to the "Posthumous Poems" of that date said: "I have added a reprint of 'Alastor, or The Spirit of Solitude.' The difficulty with which a copy can be obtained, is the cause of its republication."

There is neither a second half-title as called for by Slater, nor is there present in this copy the advertisement by C. & J. Ollier at the end of the volume. Though dated 1810, this work appeared in the previous year. It was suppressed, and reissued with a new title-page and twenty-six cancelled leaves as "The revolt of Islam." Its withdrawal from circulation was due to its exhibiting some features somewhat too bold and hazardous. The Hoe Catalogue errs in saying that this work was first published as "The Revolt of Islam."

COLLATION: Half-title, one leaf (verso blank); Title as above, one leaf (verso blank); Preface, B1-[C5], pp. [i]-xxx; Text, [C6]-[F5] (verso blank), in eights, pp. [1]-[48].

This poem was written to denounce the state of things that occasioned the "Peterloo Massacre" of 1819 at Manchester. Leigh Hunt was then editor of the "Examiner," and Shelley sent the poem to him "to be inserted or not" in that publication as he, Hunt, thought fit. Hunt did not use the MS. at the time, but printed it as above in 1832. In the preface, Hunt gives his reasons for not printing it at the time he received it. "The poem is interesting as an occasional piece mediating between Shelley's visions of the future such as those embodied in the 'Prometheus Unbound' and his political pamphlets."—Prof. Dowden.

A later edition was published by J. Watson in 1842.

This book was published after Sheridan's death, but was delivered to Mr. Crutwell, the proprietor of the Bath "Chronicle" for publication, as far back as the year 1771. It was written in answer to a ballad, by a Mr. Fitzpatrick, called "The Bath Picture" in celebration of the principal local beauties of that period. The ballad is included.

The Library of William Andrews Clark, Jr.

Part IV, p. 1, one leaf (recto blank); Text, B1-[O4] (verso blank), pp. [1]-[200]. In eights.

ERRORS IN PAGINATION: Vol. I, Part I, p. 63 the numeral 3 is defective; p. 124 is misprinted 24; Vol. II, Part III, p. 74 is misprinted 44.

Four editions of "Gulliver's Travels" were published in 1726, of which this is the first. In the first edition, described above, the second volume has not the words "Vol. II." on the title-page. The portrait is in its first state, with inscription in a compartment below the portrait, but with none around the oval. Each part has its own series of signature marks and is separately paged; but Part III ends on page 155. In the "Contents" of Vol. II, "Pyrates" instead of "Pirates" appears. Chapter VII of Part III is misprinted Chapter V.

In another edition of the same date, the words "Vol. II, Part III," appear on the title-page of the second volume; thereon the word "Glubb-dubdrib" (as in this copy) is spelled "Glubb-dubdribb." Each part has a distinct series of signature marks, and is separately paginated, but Part III ends on page 154. The portrait is in its second state, with inscription around the oval; and in the compartment below the portrait are two lines in Latin, being a quotation from Persius. In the "Contents of Vol. II," "Pyrates" (as in the copy herein collated) has been corrected to read "Pirates." Chapter VII of Part III is misprinted Chapter V. The running head-line Part IV, page 165, is misprinted "Ehe Hou-yhnhnms," and the word "subsides," Part I, page 35, line 5, is misprinted "subsides."

In still another edition of the year 1726, the title-page of Vol. II is the same as in the preceding edition described, but each volume has only one set of signature marks and one of pagination. In most copies of this edition, Vol. II is called the "Second Edition." True copies of this volume are very scarce.

In the Hoe Catalogue this copy, collated above, is considered to be "Presumably the Second Edition."

The Widener copy is different from the present copy and from other editions described in the Hoe Catalogue, in that it combines some of the points of all. For example, it has the portrait in the first state, but in Vol. I, page 35, it has "subsides" instead of "subsides" as in this copy; and Vol. II, page 165, Part IV, the running head-line reads "Ehe" instead of "The."

The Library of William Andrews Clark, Jr.

blank), in eights, pp. [1]-[200]. Plate IV, Part III, faces p. 59; Plate V, Part III, faces p. 44.

The bibliography of the first edition of "Gulliver's Travels" is very complicated, and as it is fully discussed in the last volume of Bohn's edition of "Swift's Prose Works," it is unnecessary to deal with it at length here. The leading points of interest may, however, be mentioned.

Three distinct issues of the first edition are known to exist, which may be referred to as A, AA, and B.

A portion of the following information is to be found in "Notes and Queries," 6th Series, Vol. XII, pp. 198, 350, 398, and 473, but an independent examination has been made of all available copies. See also Craik's "Life of Swift," 1882, App. VIII, which, however, is inaccurate in several particulars.

A. In this, which is almost certainly the true first issue, the portrait has the inscription, "Captain Lemuel Gulliver of Redriff Ætat. suæ 58," in two lines under the oval, and each of the four parts has a separate pagination.

The collation is as follows:

Vol. I. Portrait, general title, general contents, Publisher to the Reader (3 leaves, A3-A5), title of Part I, contents of Part I (2 leaves, A7 and A8), map, Voyage to Lilliput, pp. 1-148 (text begins on B1, and Part I ends on verso of Lw), title of Part II, contents of Part II (2 leaves), map, Voyage to Brobdingnag, pp. 1-164.

Vol. II. Title of Parts III and IV, contents of Part III (2 leaves), map, Voyage to Laputa, etc., pp. 1-155, title of Part IV, contents of Part IV (3 leaves), map, Voyage to the Houyhnhnms, pp. 1-199.

There was also a Large Paper issue of this edition.

AA. In this issue also the parts are paged separately, but the inscription, "Captain Lemuel Gulliver of Redriff Ætat. suæ LVIII," is around the oval of the portrait, and beneath are the lines from Persius:

"Compositum jus, fasque animi, sanctosque recessus Mentis, et incoctum generoso pectus honesto."

There are also various small differences in the collation. The "Publisher to the Reader" begins on verso of A2 and ends on verso of A4, and the contents of Part I begin on verso of A5 and end on verso of A6. Signature B begins at p. 5, and Part I ends on verso of K8. In the second volume, Part III ends on p. 154.

The Library of William Andrews Clark, Jr.

The second volume of the copies of this issue in the Forster collection is called "2nd edition," though the date is 1726.

B. Each volume is paged throughout continuously, instead of having a separate pagination for each of the four parts. The portrait is as in AA. The "Publisher to the Reader" begins on verso of A2, and the contents of Part I are printed in small type on one leaf (A6). B begins at p. 5, and Part I ends on verso of K8. The contents of Part II are set in large type and occupy four pages. Part II begins at M (p. 149) and ends at p. 310 (verso of V1).

Vol. II. This is the first issue which has "Vol. II" on the title. Part III ends at p. 154, and Vol. II ends at p. 353 (Aa8).

In most copies of this edition Vol. II is called "second edition." The British Museum copy (12612f.10) seems to have been always "wrongly married," as it is in an early binding, and the same name is written in both volumes. True copies of Vol. II of this edition are extremely rare. The second edition is dated 1727, and Vol. II is called "second edition corrected." A volume entitled "Travels into several remote Nations of the World, by Capt. Lemuel Gulliver, Vol. III," was also published in 1727, but this is an impudent forgery. It consists chiefly of a translation of the "Histoire des Sevarambes," by Denys Vairasse d'Alais, published 1677-1679.

An edition was also published in Dublin in 1726 [in the "Dublin Weekly Journal" of November 26th, it is advertised as "in the press and will be published next week," and on December 3rd it is said to be "just published"], by J. Hyde. It is a small 8° of 274 pages, the two volumes in one, and paged throughout. It contains the original maps, but the only copy I have seen has no frontispiece. This edition is not in the British Museum. Another edition was published in Dublin in the following year and bears imprint "Dublin, printed for G. Risk, G. Ewing, and W. Smith, in Dame Street, 1727." In this the four parts are paged separately.
